INTRODUCING BOLOGNA

Located in the center/north of Italy, Bologna is the capital of the Emilia-Romagna region.

Bologna is an art city, very important for its culture and for its food, in fact it's called at the same time "La Dotta" (the erudite one), for its ancient university, and "La grassa" (the fat one), for its cuisine.

It's a medieval city, full of arcades, taverns, theatres and little shops.

MONEY

Italy is part of the European Union, and the current currency is the Euro (EUR - €). You can pay with credit cards almost everywhere.

If you need to change money, you can find an exchange center at the central station:

FOR EXCHANGE:

Address: Stazione di Bologna Centrale, 40121 Bologna BO

Opening hours: 10-17 (closed on Sundays)

Phone: 800 305 357

The climate in Bologna in July is good with sun, but quite dry.

The temperature can reach a maximum of 32°C (90°F). In the morning the temperature falls around 23°C (73°F). The average temperature on July is 28°C (82°F).

On July, The sun rises approximately at 04:44 AM and it sets at 7:57 P.M.

ELECTRICITY VOLTAGE AND PLUGS

In Italy all plugs provide 220V 50Hz AC power, which should be good for most european equipment.

If the voltage in your country is between 220V – 250V (such as in Europe, Australia and most of Asia) you can use your equipment, otherwise you need an adaptor.

If your devices are made only for 100V and 127V (such as in the US, Canada and most South American countries) you cannot use them and you will need a voltage converter.

ELECTRICITY AND PLUGS

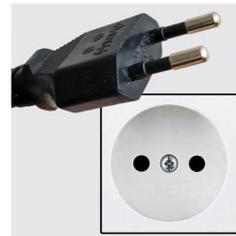

The most common power sockets in Italy are:

Type L: also called Italian socket, it is the most common you'll find in hotels room. Can also fit Type C plugs (most common for phone chargers), but Type F plugs (most common in laptops), most likely will need an adaptor.

Type C: most common in Europe, it's less used in Italy as it won't fit type L plugs.

Type F: standard Euro socket, also known as Schuko, will fit also type C (phone chargers) and type E (French) plugs. Most newer flats tend to have at least one of these, but it is not very common and it is not guaranteed that you'll have one in your room. Try using an adaptor like the one below.

You can find most kind of adaptors in hardware stores (ferramenta)

Type C

Type F

OTHER INFORMATION

Most shops are open 10AM to 8PM, with grocery stores opening earlier around 7/8AM.

Tobacco shops (Sali e Tabacchi - look around for the big T) sell more than just cigarettes. They are your general conveniency shops. There you can buy batteries, pens, bus tickets and more, as well as printing documents or making copies.

ARRIVING TO THE CITY

BY PLANE

BY TRAIN

Bologna Guglielmo Marconi Airport (BLQ) is one of the main airports in Italy and it has a lot of cheap flights run by low-cost companies. It is located 6km north-west of the city center and all flights operate from the same terminal.

You can get from the airport to the city center using the shuttle train service Marconi Express. It runs between 5:40 AM and midnight and it will take approximately 7 minutes to get to the city center.
<https://www.marconiexpress.it/en/>

A one way ticket is 9,20 € and can be bought online. It will take you to the Bologna Centrale train station, on the outskirts of the city center, with only one intermediate stop (Lazzaretto)

Taxi service is available as well. A one way trip to the city center will be around €18-20. You can find both taxis and aerobus outside the terminal on the ground floor.

BY TRAIN

The Bologna Centrale station is a large railway hub. Most highways and railways connecting northern and southern Italy cross in Bologna. The high-speed rail services Frecciarossa (operated by Trenitalia) and Italo both link Bologna to the other major cities in Italy. Reserving at least a week in advance is recommended

You can also purchase tickets at the station for local rail

GETTING AROUND BOLOGNA

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

TAXI

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Bologna doesn't have a metro, but makes up for it through an efficient Bus network. The ticketing options are:

- HOURLY TICKET: allows for unlimited bus rides over a 75 minutes period. It's available in newsstands and tobacco shops for 1,50 €, or directly on board for 2 € (though you can only purchase it through a coin-only ticket machine that will not provide change).
- CITY PASS: a carnet of 10 hourly tickets for 14 €
- DAILY TICKET: allows for unlimited bus rides over a 24 hours period, starting from the moment you validate it on the first bus you get on. and you can find it in the same shops for 6 €.

Visit <https://www.tper.it/> to check bus routes and service times (site in Italian)

TPER call centre: 0039 051 290 290, everyday from 7 AM to 8 PM

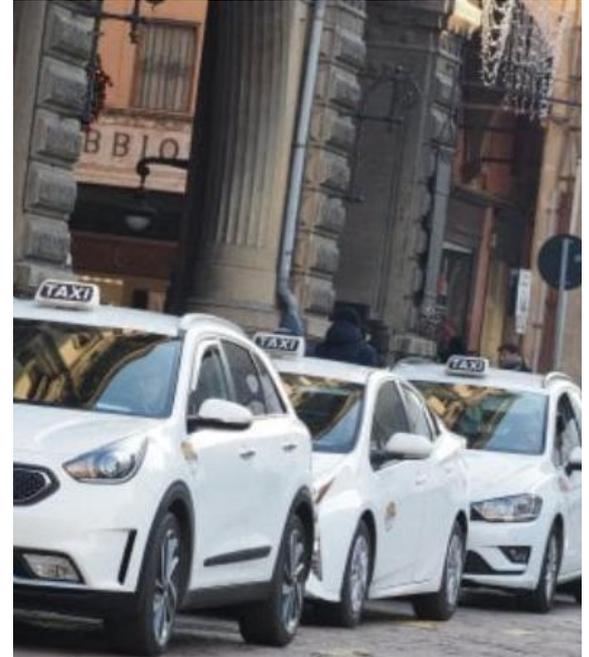

TAXI

Cabs are not very popular among locals, and as such they are not as readily available as elsewhere. You can find taxi stands in some specific places (airport, train station, city center, and also in front of the venue) or you can book one through the Uber or Wetaxi app, or by calling these numbers:

- COTABO: +39 051.372727 - <http://www.cotabo.it/>
- RADIO TAXI CAT: +39 051.4590 - <http://taxibologna.it/?lang=en>
- PRIORITY TAXI (FOR PEOPLE IN WHEELCHAIRS OR OTHERWISE IMPAIRED): +39 051 372525 - You can reserve a taxi calling this number only from monday to friday, from 8am to 5pm

due to Italian laws, Uber can only be used to book licensed taxis*

CAR

Most of the city center can only be accessed by residents, as it is a Limited Traffic Zone (Zona Traffico Limitato - ZTL)

You will find signs like the one on the left to tell you where you can't go. Entering without a permit will result in a fine as there are cameras that registering every car access.

If your hotel is in the ZTL, you can ask for a temporary pass to enter and reach the hotel, or you can buy a pass at <https://www.tper.it/ztd> (daily pass: 6 € - 4 days pass: 15 €)

Around the venue you can park on the streets on the blue parking lots, or in large signposted parking areas near the pavillion entrance (usually you will pay 10-15 € for the entire day).

FICO Eataly World

Piazza Maggiore and Basilica di San Petronio

Piazza Maggiore is the main square of Bologna, surrounded by the most important buildings of the city: “Palazzo del Podestà” and the great “Basilica of San Petronio”.

Here you can also find the “Fontana di Nettuno”, a great monumental fountain. From here it is possible to reach almost every main attraction walking down the most important streets: Via dell’Indipendenza, Via Galleria, Via dell’Archiginnasio.

The Basilica of San Petronio is the main church of Bologna. It dominates Piazza Maggiore. It is the fifteenth largest church in the world, 132 metres long and 66 metres wide, while the vault reaches 45 metres inside and 51 metres in the facade.

Le Due Torri

The most representative symbol of the city are the two leaning towers: Torre degli Asinelli and Torre della Garisenda, built in the 12th century.

The Torre degli Asinelli, 97 m high, is the highest original medieval tower in Italy. It is the only tower open to the public, you can climb 498 steps to admire a breathtaking “bird’s eye” view. Its story is linked to a legend about a young man who decided to build the tower to win the hand of a girl he had fallen in love with.

The Torre della Garisenda is known for its slope! This is due to the subsidence of the foundation. For this reason, in the mid-fourteenth century it was lowered to avoid future collapses.

I Canali e La Finestrella

Bologna has always been a city of water, a small Venice that is now largely hidden.

The most evocative glimpse of this unusual Bologna can be discovered through a small window located in Via Piella. Here you can admire the view on the old “Canale delle Moline” and take very suggestive photos.

Il Quadrilatero e Santa Maria della Vita

The “quadrilatero” is considered the food quarter inside the city center and it is a very picturesque district. It is a small quarter between the Two Towers and Piazza Maggiore, that was once dedicated to trade. Since the Middle Ages, the ancient streets have hosted the shops of artisans and the headquarters of commercial corporations.

Wandering around you’ll find old food shops, but also small restaurants where you can taste all kinds of food. If you want to take home some food, this is the right place to go. Hidden between the small streets you’ll find the church Santa Maria della Vita, built in the 13th century.

Santuario di San Luca

Above a hill near the city center there is The Sanctuary of the Madonna of San Luca.

You can reach this place walking through the longest arcades of the world, with 666 arches and 4 km long. It connects the gate of Porta Saragozza with the Sanctuary of San Luca, on Colle della Guardia.

Someone says that if you express a wish at the start of the walk, the wish will come true only when you reach the top of the hill.

FICO Eataly World

Just outside the historic center, there is FICO Eataly World. It is a real theme park dedicated to Italian gastronomy.

Here you can taste typical dishes from all over Italy, divided by areas of origin and regions and you can see closely how the foods we eat every day in Italy are produced.

One Last Secret

...or seven of them.

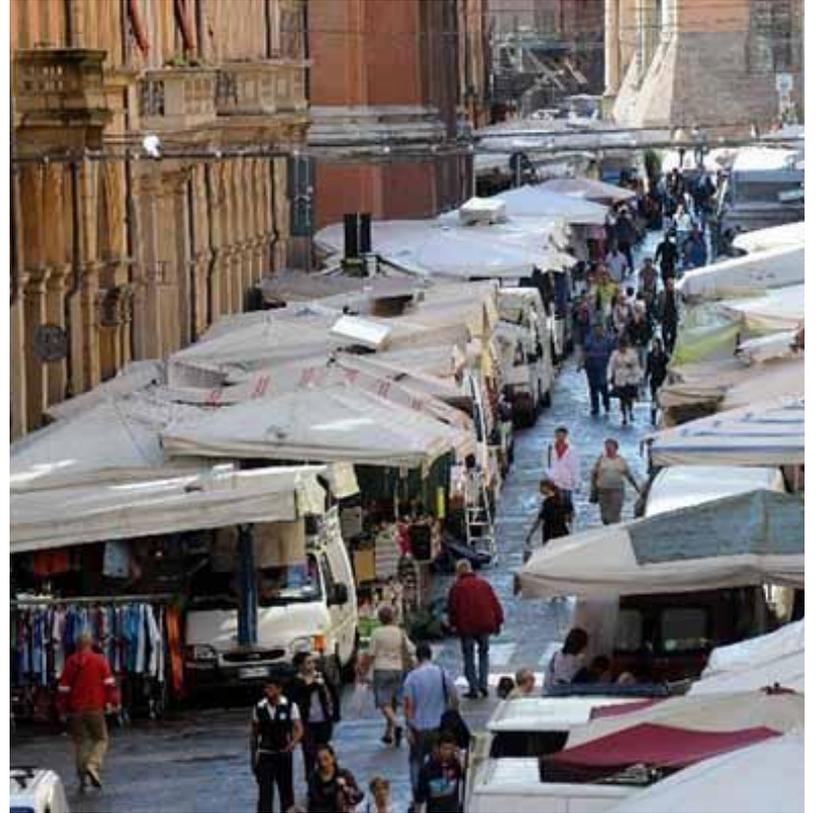

Bologna is rumored to possess seven secrets about some of its most famous attractions, like the canals, the Nettuno fountain and the Archway of Palazzo del Podestà. You already know one...

If you're feeling adventurous, try googling "The 7 secrets of Bologna"!

WHAT NOT TO MISS IN THE CITY

Shopping in Bologna

Food and Restaurants

Bologna by Night

Shopping in Bologna

Via Indipendenza connects the train station to the center of the city, it is the main shopping street, with its clothes and accessories stores, cafeterias and fast food restaurants.

If you prefer local market, don't miss Mercato di Mezzo, a central location for trade and good food since the Medieval times. You can also stop here to enjoy your happy hour. A lot of small and big kiosks will offer you a wide range of food and beverages, which you can eat in common tables.

Another popular food market is Orefici Market, where you can find Italian specialties and regional delicacies.

Food and Restaurants - Homemade Pasta

A very typical food in Bologna is homemade pasta. One of the most famous is Tortellini, handmade, meat-stuffed pasta squares. You can have them two ways: the more traditional, in broth, or also with cream sauce. You can also try Tagliatelle al ragù Bolognese, hand-cut pasta, slow-cooked meat, and pure tomato sauce.

Bologna is also the birthing place of everyone's favorite Lasagna: green pasta layers alternated with long cooked meat tomato sauce, parmesan cheese and bechamel.

Where to eat: Sforgia Rina, Via Castiglione, 5/b (near the 2 Towers) www.sfogliarina.it

Food and Restaurants - Pizza

Pizza is probably the most famous dish Italy has to offer. So, while you are here, you really have to try the original Italian pizza. Beware, we do not prepare Hawaiian pizza!

Do you want to get the best of the experience? Ask for a Margherita: tomato, mozzarella di bufala and some basil: wonderful!

Where to eat:

For a quick slice of superb pizza in the city center, head to Forno Brisa, Via Galliera 34/D www.fornobrisa.it

For a full pizza dinner near the venue you can also try Pizzikotto, Via del Lavoro, 19

Food and Restaurants - Cotoletta alla Bolognese

It is also called Cotoletta Petroniana in honor of San Petronio, the patron saint of the town.

This is a real explosion of flavor. Veal or chicken is breaded in the egg and fried, then baked in the oven with a spoonful of meat broth, a slice of ham and Grana cheese.

Where to eat: Trattoria Da me - 1937 - Via San Felice 50/A, a typical “Osteria” in Bologna, a warm and cozy place to eat Emilian food www.facebook.com/trattoriadame/

Food and Restaurants - Mortadella and Other Cured Meats

This traditional cured meat from Bologna is a Protected Geographical Indication (PGI) product. It's made of finely hashed or ground heat-cured pork, which incorporates at least 15% small cubes of pork fat. Peppers, pistachios, or olives can be added into the mixture. You can try it in a sandwich, with tigelle or crescentine.

In Bologna you can also find typical cured meats of the Emilia Romagna region, such as the renowned Prosciutto Crudo di Parma, also a PGI product.

Food and Restaurants - Tigelle and Crescentine

Tigelle are small, round, thin pieces of bread while Crescentine are a kind of fried bread. They are usually served with different cured pork meats, pickles, and typical cheeses. Try them with Squacquerone, a soft, slightly acid fresh cheese, or Pesto Modenese, a mixture of lard and spices.

Where to eat: Trattoria Nonna Rosa-Via Piave, 31/b. It's not in the city center, but you will be rewarded with one of the magical places of the emilian food culture!

www.trattorianonnarosa.it

Other Suggested Restaurants

Lambrusco: this is probably the best traditional restaurant within walking distance of the venue. Here you can find good pasta, crescentine and tigelle with mixed cured meat and cheese. Also, you'll find very good wine.

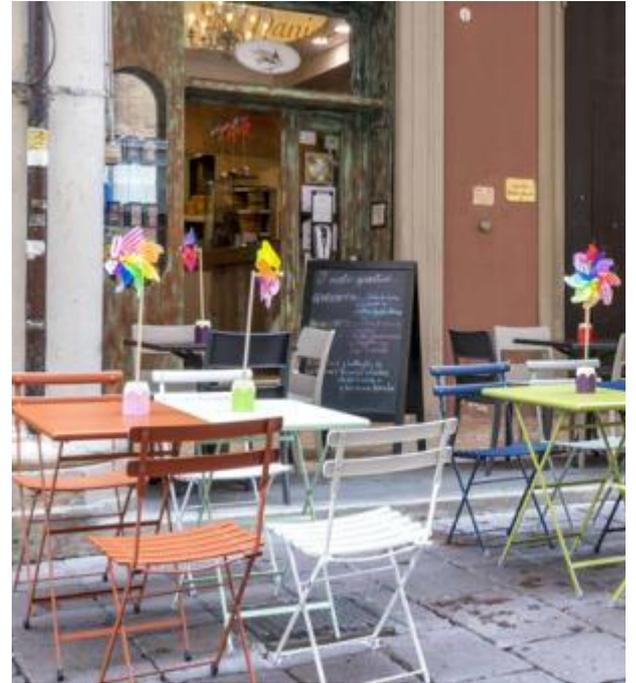

www.lambruscobologna.it

Pane, vino e San Daniele: Right in the city centre, this cozy places offers the best of the traditional salami of Emilia Romagna and Friuli, together with the best wine the territory has to offer.

www.panevinoesandaniele.com

Laboratorio Salumeria Simoni” In the middle of the “quadrilatero”, in the old center of the city, enjoy a plate of mixed cured meat and cheese, the best you can find in the city. All products are selected by the family from small producers.

www.salumeriasimoni.it

Other Suggested restaurants

Antica Trattoria della Gigina: one of the most famous restaurants in Bologna. Here you can eat all the specialties of the Emilian cuisine, in particular “Le Mitiche Tagliatelle al Ragù”, maybe the best tagliatelle in the whole city.

www.trattoriagigina.it

Osteria dell'orsa: located in the city center, it's a little restaurant where you can taste local dishes at low prices in a rustic but familiar place. Beware, they don't accept reservations!

www.osteriadellorsa.it

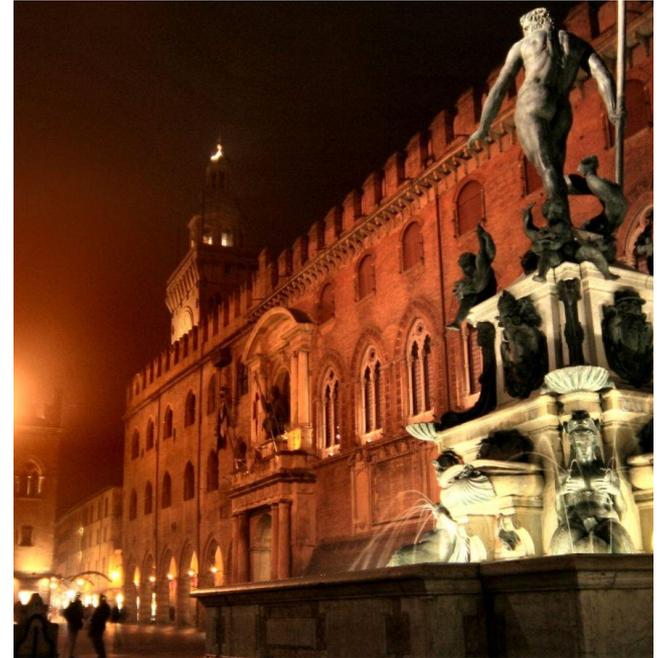

Bologna by Night

The university community of Bologna fuels a lively nightlife scene, especially in the student quarter (via Zamboni hosts various low budget restaurants and pubs), the streets around Piazza Verdi and Via del Pratello. Here you can find plenty of nightclubs, discos and live music venues.

If you like the thrill of a challenge, there are also several escape rooms in the city. Check out AdventureRooms and Resolve

LOCAL RECOMMENDATIONS

- “You absolutely must try the “tortellini in brodo”, they are very good. The Torre degli Asinelli is very high, and the descent is scary! Do not go if you suffer from vertigo. The city center in the evening is very nice because there are many small shops that stay open until late in the evening, and there are many cheap souvenirs with the typical symbols of the city, perfect to take back to friends.”
- “Bologna is the city of porticoes, unique in all of Italy, it’s beautiful to have a walk with the fresh of the evening air! It’s also the city of the hills, the climb (on foot) from the portico in the center to the Sanctuary of San Luca is unmissable: the Portico of San Luca is the longest in the world!”

- “I recommend taking a guided tour that explains the city a bit, there are many things to see. Try all the taverns and all the food with friends: cotoletta, lasagna, ravioli, salami, cheeses ... The Porticoes are beautiful even when it rains because they are protected, they connect well all the places of interest and along the way there are shops where the shopkeepers are outside the door and make the tourists try food samples! Delightful.”
- “Bologna is a university city, so there is a lot of nightlife of all kinds. Where the university part is, it is full of places where you can drink well and cheaply. The food is very good, but personally I have had the confirmation that the Bolognese sauce is less heavy than I thought! Then, this is a gem, near Bologna there is a pub (Black Fire Pub) that makes flambé beer, an ancient recipe of which they are very jealous.”

- “The most beautiful thing I have seen in Bologna are the two Towers, really suggestive. One of their story/legend about their building is also very interesting: there were these two noble and rich families of Bologna (one was the Asinelli) and when one began to build the tower, then the other family also wanted to build it, BUT HIGHER. And then this height contest began! There are many legends about the Towers: for example, it’s said that if you climb the Asinelli tower before graduating, you may never graduate again. Be careful!”
- “Avoid the bar in the Central station, it is very expensive; you just need to go a few more meters to find local shops where you can make a rustic, but very good sandwich with typical products! The center is full of B&Bs, small but nice, it is much more convenient for getting around to the city and everything is well connected to reach any place, either on foot or by local transport.”
